POLICY DOCUMENT OF MID-COURSE IMPROVEMENT OF PERFORMANCE OF STUDENT

For UG Students:

1. The daily assessment of the student is done after evaluation of their preclinical and clinical work. If the work is not up to the mark, the student is informed about their mistakes and how to correct them. The student repeats the same task again. Gradation system is used to evaluate their work.
2. There are three internal exams at an interval of 3 to 4 months in an academic year (including theory & practical exams) followed by prelim exam which is conducted before university exam.
3. The students found to be poor performers are encouraged and extra classes are conducted to let them overcome their deficiencies.
4. The failed students are asked to read about the questions asked in the exam & are told to write the answers for practice purpose. The examiner checks the paper & helps the student for any improvement. These marks are not considered for internal assessment.
5. Small group discussion between staff and students.
6. Students can approach any staff members from respective subjects to solve their queries.
7. Usage of department library.
8. Remedial classes are directed for the improvement of slow learner and takes immense measures in giving chances to mid-course improvement. Remedial classes are one among the opportunities provided to the students in supporting their academic improvement.
9. In addition to the remedial classes, revision classes are being regularly conducted by all the departments prior to the University examinations, after the completion of syllabus, with the purpose of reinforcement of concepts and with the intention of providing a supporting hand to the slow learners.

For PG Students:

1. PG students are exposed to periodic seminars, journal club and clinical case presentations so that their communication skill and stage confidence is increased. If in the presentation, any key points are missed then the task is told to repeat with suggestions.
2. The daily assessment of the student is done after evaluation of their preclinical and clinical work. If the work is not up to the mark, the student is informed about their mistakes and how to correct them. The student repeats same task again. Gradation system is used to evaluate their work.
3. At the end of the final year of post-graduation course, weekly exams are conducted to improve student performance in theory as well as in practical.
